Hello,

Thank you for your emails dated April 17 2023, sent to the Ministry of Attorney General Webmaster. Your emails have been shared with our office for response.

Please note that your emails do not constitute notice of a claim for damages as required under the Crown Liability and Proceedings Act, 2019, which governs proceedings in Ontario against the Crown. Information about serving documents on the Crown in a civil case in Ontario is available on the Ministry's website.

We hope you will understand that Ministry staff and officials cannot provide legal advice, interfere in private legal matters, or comment on judicial decisions. Judicial independence is a fundamental part of our justice system, and judicial officials must be free to make decisions without influence from external parties such as government staff or elected representatives. Judges are accountable for their decisions through the appeal process and for their conduct through judicial complaint procedures. A lawyer can assist you in reviewing the available and appropriate options in this regard.

With respect to your comments about judges of the Superior Court of Justice, please note that the Canadian Judicial Council has the sole authority to review the conduct of federally appointed judges.

Your comments with respect to court staff have been shared with local court management for consideration. We understand that the Barrie and Bracebridge Courthouses provided you with responses dated May 3, 2023 with respect to your comments.

A lawyer is in the best position to advise you about your rights and responsibilities in this matter. If you would like to contact a lawyer, the following resources can help you to find one:

- Law Society Referral Service \(LSRS\) operated by the Law Society of Ontario (LSO). Through this service, the LSO can provide you with the name of a lawyer who will provide a free initial consultation up to 30 minutes to help determine your rights and options. You can also access the LSO's online directory of lawyers here.

- JusticeNet, a not-for-profit service where lawyers and paralegals reduce their hourly fees on a portion of their practice to address the unmet legal needs of low- and middle-income members of their communities. For more information, visit the JusticeNet website here.
- Pro Bono Ontario (PBO), a not-for-profit organization that offers free legal assistance over the phone and in person. PBO operates a province-wide toll-free hotline at 1-855-255-7256. Individuals who call the hotline will be directly connected to a volunteer (pro bono) lawyer, who may answer questions about going to court, among other matters. Information about the hotline is available here.

We hope you find this information helpful. Thank you again for writing to the Ministry.

Sincerely,

Operational Support Branch

Court Services Division
