Press Conference | November 5th, 2026 at 10am ET

On November 5th, 2026 at 10am ET the Allison Inquiry will hold a National Press Conference at the Parliamentary Press Gallery.

There will be much to discuss on the impact and progress of the Allison Inquiry. Our mandate was simple: to give those injured and those who had lost loved ones a voice. We wanted to hear their stories.

They spoke.

The world listened.

Watch the press conference at allisoninquiry.com/live on Thursday, November 5th at 10AM Eastern Time.

A Worldwide Reaction

You Changed the Narrative

Our team is humbled by the response from people across the globe. Here are the words shared with us by one of the Inquiry witnesses, Michael Oesch:

"I received your lovely gift of a teddy bear, and it's sitting in my window. Thank you for all your efforts with the Allison Inquiry.

We got the word out, and although it didn't make front-page or evening news headlines, it did make news around the world on the internet.

Vaccine Injury Awareness Month has been a very big success, and I think people realize that vaccine injuries do happen. And that's all we really ever wanted: to actually be acknowledged as vaccine-injured.

Whether they recognize it or not, it doesn't really matter. Vindication for the voiceless. Thank you for your efforts in this regard. With ultimate love and respect for the rest of my life...

Yes, we moved the needle, just like they're moving the needle in the Netherlands right now with the court case against Pfizer. To walk a thousand miles, you just have to take the first step, and then don't stop.

P.S. I know this from personal experience."

More To Come

Please share the news far and wide on social media. We look forward to taking the next steps with you.

With gratitude,

— The Allison Inquiry
